TARLTON MURDER

Frank P. Parks Must Be Brought Into Court For Sentence.

Exceptions Taken By Defendant
Are Overruled.

PORTLAND, ME., Oct. 25.—The law court this afternoon has overruled the exceptions in the Kittery murder case. This is the case of Frank P. Parks, who was indicted for the murder of Mary Tarlton at Kittery on January 23d, 1899. At the May term of court at Alfred he was tried and a jury brought in a verdict of guilty. At the trial the defendant offered evidence tending to show that at the time of the killing of the deceased and before he had a mental disease called mebrity; that said mental disease manifested itself and was characterized by an uncontrollable, overwhelming craving for intoxicating liquors; that he drank liquor on the day of the killing and while he had such mental disease and in consequence of it, and that he drank so much liquor on that day, before the killing, that at the time of the killing he did not know what he was doing. The court charged the jury that it was incumbent on the defendant to show by a preponderance of evidence that he had the mental disease and that he drank the liquor and became intoxicated because of such disease and that the killing was the result of the disease and the drinking of the liquor in consequence thereof, to such an extent that he did not know what he was doing when he killed the deceased, and the defendant excepted. The decision just received from the law court overrules the exceptions. Parks has been confined at Alfred pending this decision. At the special session of court to be held on Oct. 31st he will probably be brought in to receive sentence. Attorney General William T. Haines and County Attorney William S. Mathews appeared for the state and Samuel W. Emery of Portsmouth for the respondent at the trial before Judge Wiswell.

BETTER GET YOUR COAL IN NOW.

It will be a wise business move for heads of families and other coal purchasers to get their stock before Nov. 1, and for the following reasons:

Local dealers are at present selling their stock at the rates that they have obtained all summer, while they have been standing a rise of at least 50 cents. This has been a loss to them, which has been virtually presented to the consumer. But on Nov. 1, the wholesaler adds another 25 cents rise to the already high price.

This is more than retailer puts it. "I don't see how a rise in retail prices can be averted and when it does come, it will be at least 50 cents per ton."

There is no doubt but that stocks on hand have been depleted to fill the demand at the old rates, but they cannot last forever. Another thing that is a factor is the famine of freight cars, extending, for that matter, all over the northern and eastern section of the United States. In New York and about Chicago its effects are said to be discouraging to the merchant.

THE BANNER STORY.

The S. P. C. A., or, to be explicit, Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, has occasionally been heard of in Manchester, and has had an agent here who at various times has persecuted the people for alleged cruelty. The progenitor of the society in New Hampshire is a worthy old lady who resided in Portsmouth, and who has several distant relatives in this city. She enjoyed the reputation of being one of the kindest women ever known, and she could not bear of any animal being made to suffer. It is related of her that she used to catch flies in a wire fly trap, and when enough had collected in it she would send her hired man with it to some point a mile or two from the city, where he had orders to turn the flies loose again. This is the banner story so far of kindness to dumb brutes.—Manchester Mirror.

A POPULAR CANDIDATE.

Col. Rufus N. Elwell, who is prominently mentioned as the republican candidate for congress, and whose candidacy is meeting with such a reception as to indicate to his friends his nomination, was born thirty-seven years ago in Rockingham county where he has always voted. He has been very active in the republican party in every campaign since he was old enough to vote, and has been as successful an organizer and manager of political campaigns as any man the state has produced. When first elected a member of the state committee a democratic district was assigned to him, which district has never failed to give a republican majority since. His ability for campaign management being recognized he was elected chairman of the county delegation of the state committee and the Rockingham County Republican club of which he was president until he refused to serve longer, but in which organization he has always been very active.

COL. RUFUS N. ELWELL.

When first elected to manage the county campaign, Rockingham was the strongest democratic county in the state, but gave a majority for the republican ticket at the very first election, and all county officers elected except the sheriff were republicans. Majorities have continued to increase until it has become the strongest republican county in the state. A more perfect political organization cannot be found, all members working harmoniously and enthusiastically under his guidance. Previous to 1896 he had been engaged in lumbering operations and was the proprietor of two mills and had built up a very large business which had occupied so much of his time that he refrained from accepting office, having confined his political activity to committee work with the single exception of having served two years on the staff of Governor Tuttle with the rank of colonel; but in that year he had sold his business and accepted the nomination to the legislature, to which he was elected. He held the position of permanent chairman of the republican caucus for the session, also chairman of the committee on elections. As presiding officer in the caucus he was conspicuously successful and won favorable comments from the New England press. As chairman of the committee on elections he made a record unparalleled in New Hampshire. It so happened that many cases were considered by the committee all of which were disposed of remarkably early in the session and in every case he was able to secure a unanimous report from a mixed political committee, something never before accomplished. His reports were attacked by the democratic leaders on the floor of the house, but were defended by him in a manner which at once marked him as a debater well qualified to take care of any report which he might submit. All reports were adopted and the work of the committee closed early in the session. While he was not constantly talking yet when he did address the house he always held close attention and was recognized as one of the most influential of its members. A few months after the adjournment of the legislature he was commissioned by President McKinley collector of customs at the port of Portsmouth, which position he now holds.

It was only after being urged to do so by several of the most influential men in the district, he became an aspirant for congressional honors. His unselfish work of the past, his ability in any position in which he has been placed, his unwavering integrity and loyalty have won for him a host of friends, and he is undoubtedly the popular candidate of the people. A man to be trusted, full of friendship for all mankind, faithful, able, upright and honest, he will make a candidate for whom his party will never be forced to apologize and one who will poll a vote which will show the wisdom of his nomination. In congress he will be a member who will honor the first New Hampshire district. S. R. W.

UNITED STATES APPLE CROP.

The commercial apple crop of the United States approximates 35,000,000 barrels, a considerable gain over last year's phenomenally short yield, but very much less than in some recent years. The sections which have suffered most include parts of New England, New York and all of Wisconsin, parts of Michigan and all the southwest. The great Mississippi basin has turned off a good deal of fruit as a whole, but much of it is deficient in keeping qualities. The drought seriously affected Michigan apples, and in the Ohio valley fruit dropped badly.

A moderate surplus of merchantable apples is found in the middle states, according to the New England Homestead report. New York and possibly Pennsylvania and Connecticut seem to be about the only states which did not go backward during September and in the aggregate are harvesting liberal quantities of splendid apples. New York's crop, as a whole, is less than half as much as the phenomenal yield of '96, but is much better in quality, with a small proportion going to waste. The supply of prime apples harvested in Ontario will be exceedingly small. Nova Scotia has a splendid crop. The foreign market should take about the usual proportions of American and Canadian apples, dependent however, upon the prices and quality of fruit.

THEATRICAL HAPPENINGS.

AT MUSIC HALL TONIGHT.

The Heart of Maryland is a triumph of stage craft and the master hand of David Belasco is everywhere in evidence. In dialogue situations and diction, he has exercised the prerogative of talent peculiarly his own. The characters speak and act as actual men and women did during the time of the civil war. The plot in brief is as follows: The heroine, Maryland Calvert, whose sympathies and home ties are with the South, loves a Northern colonel, who is the son of a Southern general. To save him from death, she betrays to him a military secret of the confederacy. Her brother, a northern spy, is shot while trying to escape with important documents, and her lover, who has penetrated the confederate lines to see her, is arrested and held as a probable accomplice of the dead man. His adversary, who is the confederate officer commanding, determines to have him shot. In the presence of the manacled prisoner, he insults Maryland, when she seizes a bayonet and strikes him down. She then frees her lover, who escapes. The order is given for the ringing of the tower bell as a warning of a prisoner's escape. Maryland, to prevent the ringing of the bell, rushes up into the belfry, seizes the clapper and swings to and fro as the bell rope is pulled from below, and the lover's life is saved. The culminating points of the first three acts are of unusual strength, and the fourth act untangles the difficulties and unites the lovers.

ACHIEVEMENTS OF THE BIOGRAPH.

Perhaps one of the greatest achievements of the American biograph was the taking of the pictures of His Holiness Pope Leo XII. Certainly nothing of the kind was ever more commented upon by the leading newspapers and magazines. Such publications as the London Times, Harper's Weekly, the Scientific American, and the principal journals of the world devoted pages to their illustration and description. It was indeed a wonderful privilege accorded the biograph by the Holy Father, which gave to the world a chance to see the grand old man exactly as he lives to day, and an idea of his surroundings.

Among the other distinguished personages who have posed before the biograph may be mentioned President McKinley, Gov. Roosevelt, Queen Victoria and members of her family, including the Prince of Wales, Emperor William, Queen Wilhelmina of Holland, and our own Admiral Dewey. The first picture of the Admiral was taken when the Olympia was at Nice. Since then the events of the great New York celebration have been caught by the biograph, the pictures of the land and naval parades being remarkably fine and occupying a longer space of time in their showing than any motion pictures ever shown.

The biograph will be seen here Friday and Saturday evenings and Saturday afternoon.

THE LOBSTER.

Of this play, which is coming here, the Kennebec Journal of last Monday says: "The Lobster, itself, is what was claimed for it, a very funny thing, and it was a continual laugh from the start to the finish. Fisher, as the Lobster, was one of the funniest men who ever stepped upon the Augusta stage. The entire play is put together for the amusement of the audience, there being no particular plot outside the little disagreement of two suburbanites and their good wives, and the rest is the trouble they had until they made up. Carroll, as Mr. Congau, entertained his audience Irish friend, Dugan, at his suburban home, and the latter, who was called 'The Lobster,' had some odd experiences.

"Good dancing was one of the things that characterized the performance, and several fine singers, both male and female voices, were heard. The chorus work was as good as anything can be in Meonion hall."

THEATERGOING MANNERS.

This is from the Boston Herald. "Several of our exchanges, in discussing the subject of behavior among audiences in the theatres of the land, are making a simultaneous protest against the practice which prevails of preparing to leave the theatre before plays are ended. We are not without instances of this in Boston. The cause of this is the necessity that many are under of making an early exit from houses in order to catch cars that shall take them to their homes, and thus be relieved from what may prove to be weary street waiting; yet the fact remains that noise and bustle which obscure the concluding words of a play are not only discourteous to actors, but a serious inconvenience to many in the audiences who desire to see the end of an interesting performance fully rounded out. In itself this conduct in audiences is distinctly bad manners, and must be marked as such, whatever excuse may be offered for it."

THEATRICAL NOTES.

The advanced sale for The Heart of Maryland has assured a large house for tonight.

PROTOCOL DRAWN UP RUSSIA WILL ARBITRATE BEHRING SEA CLAIMS.

Damages Asked For by The American Aggregate About $150,000—Protocol Prepared in St. Petersburg By American Ambassador And Russian Foreign Office.

London, Oct. 25.—Russia has at last agreed to arbitrate with the United States the claims resulting from the seizure of sealers in the Bering Sea, which have been pending for about eight years. A protocol between the two governments has been drawn up, the final formalities are expected to be concluded next month, and the arbitration will probably take the form of the Venezuela case.

Russia's agreement is a source of great satisfaction to the United States Ambassador to Russia, Mr. Charles M. Tower, who is stopping in London on his way to St. Petersburg. He says:

"The relations between Russia and the United States have never been more close or friendly than today. The only difference existing between the two nations is now sure of settlement on lines similar to the Venezuelan arbitration. I return to St. Petersburg on Saturday and the finishing touches will then be put upon the agreement."

Mr. Tower was asked regarding the frequent publication in British newspapers of the rumor that Russia was taking advantage of the Transvaal war by aggression upon British territory. He said:

"Naturally, it is impossible for me to speak of Russia's policy toward Great Britain, even if I knew anything. But I can say most emphatically that Russia's attitude toward the United States is not prejudiced by our friendship for Great Britain."

What The Claims Are.

Washington, Oct. 25.—The claims referred to in the above dispatch originated in the seizure by the Russian authorities off the coast of Siberia of three American sealing vessels and the damages claimed aggregate about $150,000. The vessels were the James Hamilton Lewis, the Cape Horn Pigeon and the C. H. White. In each case the largest loss of the claim is on account of the sufferings of the American officers and crew while under arrest.

The claims differ from those presented by British sealers, which were settled by the Bering Sea arbitration, in that while the British vessels were seized by the American revenue cutters on what the arbitration declared to be the high seas the Russian men-of-war seized the American sealers within seven miles of the Asiatic coast. It is a matter of interest that for the first time the Russian Government contends that marine jurisdiction of a country extends at least this distance from the shore line, instead of being limited to a marine league, as laid down by the older writers on international law. The league was fixed originally because it represented the extreme distance from shore that a shot could be thrown by one of the old cannon used in coast defense and the Russians hold that the limit should be extended to correspond to the increased range of modern ordnance.

The protocol through which the arbitration was arranged was prepared in St. Petersburg by Ambassador Tower and the Russian Foreign Office.

It was agreed by both parties that there should be but one arbitrator, and the person selected for that post is Dr. Asser, a celebrated Dutch jurist, who took a prominent part in The Hague conference. The case will be submitted to him as soon as the papers can be prepared at the State Department.

ASK YOUR NEIGHBOR.

Hundreds of Portsmouth citizens Can Tell You All About It.

Home endorsements, the public expression of Portsmouth people, should be evidence beyond dispute for every Portsmouth reader.

Surely the experience of friends and neighbors, cheerfully given by them, will carry more weight than the utterances of strangers residing in faraway places. Read the following:

Mr. William Bell of No. 2 Hill street, says: "I used Dr. Dean's Kidney Pills and sold my husband. Both of us received great benefit from them, and we unite in recommending them to others. We read about them in the newspapers, and as we were both suffering at the same time, we got a box at Philbrick pharmacy on Congress street. I was troubled with a grinding pain in my back, dizziness, a distaste in my head, and lameness in my kidneys. My husband had lameness in his back, and the secretions from the kidneys acted too frequently, particularly at night, which greatly disturbed his rest. We commenced using them together and it was not long before the desired result took place."

TOWN TALK.

There are pounds upon pounds of gum chewed in this city as each week rolls by. Hardly a drug store but that displays at the season a window full of gum. It is enough to make the gum chewer's mouth water to walk past one of these windows with the great pile of possible mastication stacked there. It is a most pleasing sight and it will make even the tutti frutti chewers forget their sweet chewing material for the purpose of trying this spruce flavored gum right from the bark of the Northern woods.

The store windows, where the winter goods are on display, look pretty warm now. First we strike the dry goods stores where the warm underwear and socks are to be seen. The shoe stores are displaying the heavier articles for the protection of the foot against snow, sleet and cold; the clothing stores are showing the heavy weight clothing; the dress goods are there, and in a few windows are the most attractive things of all. That idea of having samples of the various skins from which the furs are made, was a popular one, for every one stopped to look in upon the various kinds.

The sale in the city of the old-fashioned cowhide boots for men and boys is astonishing to those who are not familiar with the shoe business. They are difficult to get from the wholesale houses, especially the small sizes for boys. Many a man can remember, when a boy, how carefully he placed his boots when taking them off at night, in order that they might be changed on the feet in the morning so that they would not "run over." If this habit were followed by the men of today, it would be a great improvement. Pounds of tallow were used on them, and the way they grew small and hardened and made sore the feet in spite of the grease and motherly care, was a standing grievance with the small boy who had to wear them.

LOCAL STORIES.

The way of the man who goes to another city and forgets his friends is hard. Two Portsmouth citizens not long ago went to Boston to see the baseball games and incidentally to look at Devey, in case they could find a place high enough to see the hero. They attended the ball games in style, going in a barouche and having eye cover after them. Then they met several old acquaintances, all of whom claim that the Portsmouth gentlemen's heads were so far up in the clouds they could see none of their old friends. It seems as though everyone saw them by the reminders they are receiving of out they gave. In every conceivable part of the Hub they have been heard from, and they begin to think the whole Boston detective force was on their trails ready to note their every move.

A man who was out duck shooting the other day was just bringing down his third bird and thinking proudly of the pile he would carry home when a voice called from across the river, "Come over here and settle for my geese." It cost him just five dollars to settle, and he now suggests that all ducks and geese which wander away from civilization should have with them a certificate of domesticity.

CHICAGO OFFICERS IN TROUBLE.

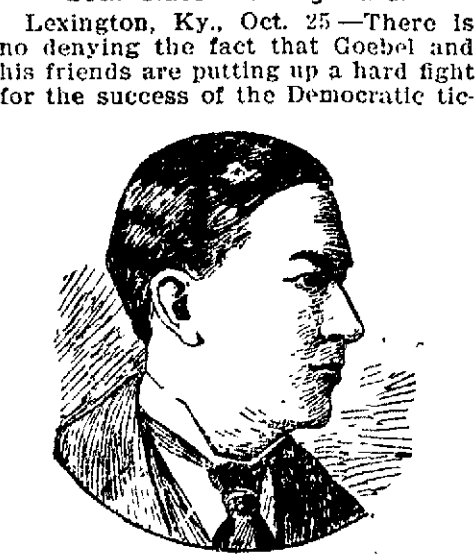

Constables and Lawyers Are Charged With Conspiracy.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Constables and lawyers of the west side justice courts who had been giving their attention to druggists, tobacco dealers and saloon keepers in that section of the city are under the ban of Corporation Counsel Walker. Mr. Walker has placed the matter in the hands of C. C. Woodson of the City Law Department, and the following named lawyers were arrested on warrants taken out in Justice La Buy's court, by Mr. Woodruff, David Goetz and Joseph Kristian, constables; J. K. Tennant and David Hallman, lawyers. At the Central Police Station the prisoners were booked on charges of conspiracy.

Many complaints have been brought to the city law department alleging that it has been the custom of certain constables and justice court lawyers to employ a boy to go out and buy cigarettes and whiskey wherever possible. Persons who sold to the boy, it is said, would be visited a few days later by the constable with warrants, and if they refused to "fix things up" with the constable they were arrested and taken into court. The boy to whom whiskey or cigarettes had been sold would then be brought into testimony against the defendants. The victim seldom escaped without being fined, and it is said it became the rule with dealers who fell into the trap to settle with the constable.

He says that he will have no conflict with his employees but that he cannot continue in business and pay the advanced wages. The output of Mr. Gaunt's plant is about 1,500 pairs of slippers a day. The average earnings of his workmen are higher than those of any other factory in the city. A number of the employees earn more than $1,000 a year.

PEACE FAR DISTANT

IF THESE REPORTS ARE ANY INDICATION.

Manila Papers Kept Aguinaldo Posted As to The Movement of American Troops—More Important Fighting Expected to Occur at Any Time in Vicinity of Iloilo.

Manila, Oct. 25.—Iloilo is stirred by the expectation of important fighting. General Pulido began "unrolling the bloody scroll," as he promised his followers in a recent speech, by firing volleys at the American outposts at night.

Since Sunday reinforcements have been arriving from the north. This activity is designed to divert the Bisayans from their dissatisfaction against the Tagalos.

Aguinaldo has ordered the release on parole of Arenta and other Bisayan leaders, who are disposed to negotiate for peace, and is watching them to prevent further negotiations.

The Fourth Infantry reconnaissance about Iloilo found that the Filipinos had returned to Das Marinas. Their bugles blew when the Americans approached.

It is reported that they are reorganizing at Malabon and other towns. The leading inhabitants of that section have requested Major General Otis to garrison the towns, because the insurgents are living off the people. Sufficient troops are lacking yet.

General Otis has prohibited the local papers from printing the arrivals, departures or any movements of troops.

Aguinaldo, if he is a student of the Manila papers, has been kept posted as to the whereabouts of every company in the army.

The news that the Spaniards attempted to surrender the rebel artillery at Santa Rosa has reached Tarlac and has spread through the country. The Filipinos are taking vengeance on the prisoners by curtailing the few privileges they had.

Inter-Island Trade in Philippines.

Washington, Oct. 25.—Under the laws of the United States, foreign vessels cannot engage in coastwise trade, and as all the trading vessels in the Philippines flew the Spanish flag, much embarrassment has resulted.

Many of these vessels have now passed into American hands, and the Secretary of War will shortly issue an order permitting them to fly the American flag and enjoy all the privileges of American register.

The Cabinet has decided to allow vessels purchased by American citizens to engage in Philippine inter-island trade.

Joplin, Mo., Oct. 25.—The zinc mines of the Joplin-Galena district which have been shut down for the last three weeks by order of the Zinc Miners' Association, are to be put in operation next Monday, as the strike has been declared off by the association. The cause of the shutdown was the refusal of the smelters to pay the association's schedule of prices for ore. A surplus of ore that had accumulated has been practically consumed.

Home For Inebriate Women.

Columbus, O., Oct. 25.—The members of the Central Woman's Temperance Union have decided to undertake the establishment in this city of a home for inebriate women. No institution of the kind exists in the United States, and but one, which even remotely approaches it, in the world. That is the Duckworth Home at Duckworth, England, an asylum founded by and under the patronage of Lady Somerset.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Local advisers say that the Denver Board of Supervisors has passed and Mayor Johnson has signed the ordinance providing for the issuance of bonds by the city to the amount of $4,700,000 for the purchase of the plant of the Denver Union Water Company, or the construction of a new one. The Denver Water Company asks $9,000,000 for its plant.

KISSERS GO TO JAIL.

Judge Gives Yale Student and a Girl Fifteen Days Each.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 25.—Not in several years has a Yale undergraduate been sentenced to jail until Tuesday when Judge Edwin A. Dow of the City Court ordered Stephen O. Lawrence and Miss May Carroll to spend half a month each behind the bars for kissing. The sentences have their precedent under the old Connecticut Blue Laws.

The story of the adventure of Mr. Lawrence and Miss Carroll makes the decision remarkable. They had dined in a prominent cafe and were passing out when Lawrence, in adjusting his wrap for Miss Carroll, kissed her. Patrolman Harry Winchell happened to witness the demonstration and he arrested them.

Lawrence evidently is a young man of means, for he obtained sufficient cash for bailing out himself and Miss Carroll. This relieved them of the stigma of spending the night in the police station. When their cases were called, Judge Dow administered the jail sentence. Lawrence again obtained bail for both and they have disappeared, after giving notice of an appeal to the Court of Common Pleas.

Judge Dow, in passing sentence, said that the case manifestly came under the general statute, which allowed a sentence for such conduct. For this the law allows a fine up to $10 and a jail sentence under thirty days. Lawrence has been in Yale only a few weeks, and has not registered regularly. Miss Carroll is employed in a corset factory here.

LITTLE HOPE FOR GARABED.

Apparently Nothing Can Be Done For "Joe The Turk."

Washington, Oct. 25.—While the State Department has taken notice of the complaint of the Salvation Army respecting the ejection from Turkey of one of the members of that organization, the "Joe The Turk," otherwise Joseph Garabed, there is nothing in the statement of the case so far that warrants the belief that our consular officers have been at fault.

An inquiry has been instituted to ascertain all of the facts, and to see whether there is anything exceptional in Garabed's case; but, if the facts are as stated, it is the opinion that a protest, though unavailing. The Turkish Government absolutely refuses to recognize the right of a subject to expatriate himself, and formerly these returned Armenians were subjected to harsh treatment. The result of our representations was that the Turkish Government agreed to limit its action in the case of these returned Armenians to expulsion from Turkey. If Garabed was expelled without harsh treatment, and "Joe The Turk" is not as necessary to prevent his escape, it would be difficult to establish a claim on that score against the Turkish Government.

Inspects a Railroad on Foot.

Delaware, O., Oct. 25.—Joseph Robinson, receiver of the Columbus Sandusky and Hocking Railroad Company, inaugurated a novel inspection of the system. He arrived accompanied by Road Master W. V. Van Frank, Trainmaster C. S. Wilkinson, and General Passenger, Ticket and Freight Agent Rollin Jaynes, in their private car used for the official annual inspection. The car was sidetracked and deserted. The receiver notified the other officials that he was ready for the inspection and started down the tracks on foot, followed by the remainder of the party. They walked nearly fifteen miles to Flint, returned by train, then foot again between here and Marion, another twenty miles. Every inch of the road was thoroughly inspected, and each member of the party was also a fit subject for the same process when the wearisome walk was completed.

Buys 300,000 Pounds of Wool.

Crawfordsville, Ind., Oct. 25.—The greatest sale of wool ever made in Indiana was closed when McClure, Graham & Roundtree sold to the Manchester Mills Company of Manchester, N. H., 300,000 pounds of fine wool. It will be shipped East at once. The clip was bought at from 18 to 22 cents and was sold at a slight advance. The County Stock Yards, a part of this city also has sold its surplus of 100,000 pounds to an Eastern factory. Another woolen firm earlier in the season sold nearly 200,000 pounds to the mills of New England, making half a million pounds of wool sold from Crawfordsville this season.

Now He is Made a Defendant.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Hugh Shiells, who formerly was in charge of the business interests of Sir Thomas Lipton at the Union Stock Yards, is a defendant in a suit for separate maintenance, begun in the Superior Court by his wife, Faith L. Shiells. The charge on which the application is based is extreme and repeated cruelty. Shiells is at present an officer and largest stockholder of the firm of Miller & Hart, packers and provision merchants, of Twenty-fifth and La Salle streets. The defendant's income is estimated at $1,000 a month, and he is said to be worth about $100,000.

THURSDAY, OCT. 26, 1899.

Well, good bye, Sir Thomas! Take care of yourself!

Speaking of football, seven young men were killed while playing it this season, up to October 14, and eleven were seriously injured.

Chicago complains of a shortage of 40,000 gallons a day in the milk supply. And the worst of it is that the deficiency can't be made up from the contents of the Chicago river until the material is run through a crushing machine.

England appears to be entirely ready for anything that happens in Europe, be it peace, war or a talking match with continental diplomats. He has put her fighting clothes on, not necessarily for business, but primarily to make sure that they fit all right.

Admiral Dewey seems to have canceled his projected trip to the south because of a fear that the managers of the affair intended to exhibit him for political purposes. The boomers utterly fail to grasp the fact that the admiral is not in the show business.

Advices from South Africa say that Cecil Rhodes, who is besieged in the town of Kimberly, refuses to leave the place. Mr. Rhodes evidently feels that there are certain changes from the frying pan which do not necessarily involve an increase in the comfort of one's personal environment.

CONTINENTAL CONSPIRACIES.

The departure of the great British channel squadron for Gibraltar has been seized upon, both here and abroad, as a basis for some lively predictions of continental conspiracies against Great Britain, due to her difficulties in South Africa.

There is small reason to take seriously these predictions. The time and conditions are not propitious for an anti-British showing of hands. The South African difficulty in no way embarrasses the British navy. The British navy today could meet, with probable success, the combined fleets of France and Russia. The British policy in China is in harmony with the American, and any blow at the former would, therefore, be a blow at the latter, compelling American alignment with the British—and our present fleet in the Philippines represents a pretty formidable force, offensive or defensive.

Surely if an aggressive continental combination against the British was not deemed advisable a year or two or three years ago, when the empire stood alone and burdened by a government of vacillation and retraction, it would be folly today, when the empire has added materially to its naval strength, when its government has been transformed from a negative to a positive force, when the spirit of the people has been aroused to the "chip-on-the-shoulder" pitch by recent events, when an unwritten alliance, based on sympathetic aims and methods, exists with the United States—itsself newly advanced as a world power—and when it is plain that Anglo-American policies, political and commercial, could not submit to armed defiance without endangering universal peace and progress for the coming half-century.

CLIFTON WAS HERE.

Harry Clifton, the Massachusetts hotel owner who failed to appear in court at Newbury Monday, because a jail sentence was waiting for him on a liquor case, was in this city Wednesday. He came in on a morning train and was here for several hours. He finally departed on a train bound for Portland. It is understood he told a friend here that he was to engage in the hotel business down in Newbury, Me. He was looking heavy and did not appear worried at all. His wife was not with him.

GENERAL KOCK MAY RECOVER.

London, Oct. 25.—The Daily Mail has the following from Natal: The proclamation of martial law throughout Natal has given great satisfaction. Among the Boer prisoners at Ladysmith, age DeWitt Hamer, a member of the Raad, and Dr. Van Letgdo, a public prosecutor at Heidelberg. Among the killed is Mr. DeJong, secretary of the Transvaal educational department. It is now expected that General Kock, the Boer commander, will recover General White gave him the option of being taken to Pretoria or remaining at Ladysmith, and he chose the latter. The heavy losses of the King's Royal rifles at Dundee was mainly due to the black belt worn over the Kaki uniforms, which made an excellent target.

FOUGHT THEIR WAY BACK TO LADYSMITH.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—A despatch to the Daily Telegraph from Ladysmith, dated Monday, says that thirty of the Eighteenth Hussars who were sent from Glencoe to intercept the retreat of the Boers were cut off by the enemy. Under Sergeant Baldry they valiantly fought their way across the Viggersburg, the enemy pursuing and firing at them at a range of 300 yards. They arrived at Ladysmith at one o'clock in the morning. Three of the troops are missing. A lieutenant with a party were driven back to Glencoe.

These conditions can be arrested, consumption prevented and health restored by the early use of

Dr. Greene's NERVURA

A Veritable Fountain of Youth for Restoring Health and Beauty to Women.

Women look old because they are not well. The average woman of today appears old at twenty-five or thirty, with all hollow-looked eyes, thin, pinched, pale cheeks, sallow complexion, dark or bloodless lips, the face lined and the expression the opposite of vivacious. Women can change all this and become well, strong and beautiful by using Dr. Greene's Nervura. It is a wonderful, powerful, and pure vegetable compound which is almost a fountain of youth for women. It renews and maintains youthful looks and beauty, creates a clear, pure complexion, makes the face round and plump and the eyes bright.

MRS. C. S. ALLEN, of 128 Pearl St., Portland, Me., says: "There was hardly any more color in my face and hands than in chalk. Dr. Greene's Nervura made me well, and restored my natural color and complexion."

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

Washington, Oct. 25.—The President today issued the following Thanksgiving proclamation:

"A national custom dear to the hearts of the people calls for the setting apart of one day in each year as an occasion of special thanksgiving to Almighty God for the blessings of the preceding year. This honored observance acquires with time a tender significance. It enriches domestic life. It summons under the family roof the absent children to glad reunion with those they love.

"Seldom has this nation had greater cause for profound thanksgiving. No great pestilence has invaded our shores. Liberal employment waits upon labor. Abundant crops have rewarded the efforts of the husbandmen. Increased comforts have fallen to the home. The national finances have strengthened and public credit has been sustained. In all branches of industry and trade there has been an unequalled degree of prosperity, while there has been a steady gain in the moral and educational growth of our national character. Churches and schools have flourished. American patriotism has been exalted. Those engaged in maintaining the honor of the flag with such signal success have been in a large degree spared from disaster and disease. An honorable peace has been ratified with a foreign nation with which we were at war and we are now on friendly relations with every power on earth.

"The trust which has been assumed for the people of Cuba has been faithfully advanced. There has been marked progress toward the restoration of healthy industrial conditions, and, under wise sanitary regulations, the islands have enjoyed unusual exemption from the scourge of fever. The hurricane which swept over our new possession of Porto Rico, destroying the homes and property of the inhabitants, called forth instant sympathy of the people of the United States who were swift to respond with generous aid to the sufferers. While the insurrection still continues in the island of Luzon, business is resuming its activity, and confidence in the good purposes of the United States is being rapidly established throughout the archipelago.

"For these reasons and countless others, I, William McKinley, President of the United States, do hereby name Thursday, the thirtieth day of November next, as a day of general thanksgiving and prayer, to be observed as such by all our people on this continent and in our newly acquired islands as well as by those who may be at sea or sojourning in foreign lands; and I advise that on this day religious exercises be conducted in the churches or meeting places of all denominations, in particular that in the social features of the day its real significance may not be lost sight of, prayers may be offered to the Most High for a continuance of the divine guidance without which man's efforts are vain and for divine consolation to those whose kindred and friends have sacrificed their lives for the country.

"I recommend also that on this day, so far as may be found practicable, labor shall cease from its accustomed toil and charity abound toward the sick, the needy and the poor.

"In witness whereof I have set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"WILLIAM McKINLEY."

BEWARE OF OINTMENTS FOR CATARRH THAT CONTAIN MERCURY.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is tenfold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

THE BIRDS MIGRATING.

Those who have been out in the woods say that they are now almost deserted by the birds. The robins are beginning to gather in flocks in the fields, and will soon be on their way South. The loons have left the ponds for their winter quarters. It seems strange that these clumsy birds can fly long distances as well as others, but when once in the air they make very good time. They need a little wind to raise them from the water on the start, but can then get along almost as well as ducks. Their wings, though small, are very powerful, and a blow from them well delivered is no small matter.

No one would ever be bothered with constipation if everyone knew how naturally and quickly Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the stomach and bowels.
